

RHODE ISLAND

All in good fun, for a good cause

Teachers at Community Preparatory School, in Providence, challenged their students to collect food for the Assumption Church Food Pantry. The students collected over 3,000 items. In return, they got to dunk their teachers on Friday.

The Providence Journal | Mary Murphy

ABOVE: Edward Moye, an eighth grade teacher at Community Preparatory School, in Providence, is the first to go in the dunk tank.

LEFT: Natalia Yanegas, a Spanish teacher at Community Preparatory, braces for impact.

ABOVE: Cameron Torres, a sixth grade student, hurls a ball to send his teacher, Francisco Velasquez, into the dunk tank.

RIGHT: As fellow teacher Nicole Guyon, right, laughs, Francisco Velasquez emerges from the dunk tank.

